🌐 The Arialink Fiber Optic Revolution

Arialink is a Local Lansing Based company started in 2003 with the vision to construct the region's most advanced business communications network. While most competitive communication carriers rely heavily on the AT&T network and their mostly legacy copper based network, in recent years Arialink invested over $15 million in the region constructing a 100% owned Gigabit fiber optic backbone network from the ground-up. Arialink is literally replacing hundreds of miles of copper network in the region with the latest in fiber optic connectivity.

The Light Speed vision is Arialink's approach to deploying business critical services to large consumers of telecommunications and Internet services. In only a few short years, Arialink has grown the network to carry as much as 50% of the region's daily telecommunication's traffic – Light Speed is our vision to connect small businesses directly to the region's largest and most successful Internet backbone provider, bringing you the same value offered to very large businesses.

Light Speed Small Business is our latest product achievement, bringing the benefits realized by our large enterprise customers within the reach of your small business. Through bundling of Converged Voice communications with direct-to-business fiber optic connectivity, your small business saves money while future proofing the technology and communication operations.
